⚠ SKINHEAD MUSIC "HATE" TRIAL OPENS IN TORONTO

TORONTO. JUNE 7, 2004. The trial of Mark Ehms of Toronto opened today before Mr. Justice D.T. Hogg in a North York courtroom. Ehms is charged under Sec. 319, the infamous Canadian "hate" law, for selling CDs of skinhead music at a private concert in January, 2003.

Ehms through his lawyer Peter Lindsay pleaded not guilty. Mr. Lindsay has brought a Charter challenge in this case, arguing that the defendant's reasonable expectation of privacy at a private party in a rented bar was violated by the police raid.

As the case opened, Crown Attorney Jennifer Woollcomb was flanked by Det. James Hogan of the Metropolitan Toronto Police "hate squad." Hogan had led the investigation in this skinhead music case. Woollcomb told the court that "police were monitoring the skinhead concert from outside the bar," , January 11, 2003. "They had received some information prior to this event."

Courtroom 211 is a tiny clothes closet of a room, with room for fewer than eight spectators.

Paul Fromm, Director of the Canadian Association for Free Expression, who was present in the Court, called this case "a clear example of political persecution." "What were the police doing shadowing a perfectly peaceful gathering of young Whites on a Saturday night, when Black after hour clubs regularly erupt in gunfire and mayhem? This is selective prosecution. Black gangsta rap CDs advocating murder of policemen and gory, hateful treatment of women are widely available. Once again,

'hate squads' are acting as a political police force to suppress White dissent. "

Peter Lindsay asked for a short adjournment in order for the Crown to produce the notes of other officers who had investigated the case and whose activity had only come to light on Friday. The Crown had not disclosed this activity until last Friday, Mr. Lindsay indicated.

Last Thursday, police officers visited the bar manager after Mr. Lindsay had interviewed him as a potential witness, Ms Woollcomb disclosed.

"This matter was set down over a year ago. Were you just preparing this last week?" Mr. Justice Hogg snapped at the Crown. She denied it was last minute preparation.

The judge granted an adjournment. He had arrived 7 minutes late and was clearly in a gruff mood. The only other matter of business was to deal with a Mr. Campbell. This smirking young Black, accompanied by a female with a Dolly Parton chest and a skin-tight plunging sweater, was asked where his lawyer was. "He's on his way," the courtwise Campbell answered.

Dismissing Campbell, Judge Hogg said: "He's always on his way. I'm fining him $5,000" for contempt.

The court, located at 2201 Finch Ave., West sits in a small office building arising out of a strip mall, which sports the offices of Immigration Minister Judy Sgro, Rosa's Ristorante Italiano and Julius's Roman Banquet Hall. The area outside the court building and the court lobby were packed with a milling crowd, over half of whom were Blacks in all manner of funky hats and unusual clothing.

CAFE is raising money to assist in the defence of Mark Ehms. I was talking with a friend from Germany, I showed him this article and says we're becoming more and more like Germany.

Selling Cd's, well there's the crime of the century! You have Blacks selling crack in almost every bar in Toronto and our tax dollars are going to pay cops to monitor private parties and concerts.

The key is that it is not inciting hatred or violence towards a minority.....a cop is not a minority.....however the legal route to skinhead music is through manipulation of lyrics with some witty implications rather than out right violent advocacy.....alot of skinhead music could not be challenged in court. just cuz something has swastika on it, one cannot be charged....and if charged cannot be convicted....if i was selling cd's i would carefully pick my distribution tastes to likes of skrewdriver and brutal attack and such as most have decent lyrics even according to the layman.....however most of our need for hate people in skinhead movement are to blind to see that.

it is wrong for blacks to rap to kill whitey...i hear and see lotsa complaints in that regard however i see absolutly no one trying to pushh these things in court to have rap music contended with hate laws...not just any song...and it is legal to degrade women...but not races.....so find the rap songs against whitey and push that as hate music.....it has been done under common censorship stuff in the 80's ...remember 2 live crew controversy.....it can be done...lol funny thing is i doubt anyone here ...with exception of a very few who even are educated on this process.....but i guess that just comes with the territory.....monkey see monkey ...like in rap music....it exists in our folk too honkey see honkey do.....i see that in the movement daily.... 🤪 how dare i eh? i dare cuz it is truth and i know...been around far to long to let that pass before me without calling the kettle black!!

Re: SKINHEAD MUSIC "HATE" TRIAL OPENS IN TORONTO

This story makes me think of indians in Canada. Always complaining about us white folk taking their land, and we explaining it as - they were weak and we were strong , therefore, we conquered them. Now the majority is swaying so far over to the muddy side of things that we are becoming, essentially - at least in numbers, the weak ones. How long will it be before they (asians, pakis, blacks, indians, etc. etc.) have turned the tables and conquered us? Then we will be the ones wondering where our culture has gone, and why we have no rights in a country that we built. Of course, I'm preaching to the choir, but it's really eye opening to see how backwards things have gotten, and how so many people of our own race just go along with it all. Bah, hopefully white people will realize before it's too late that we do it to ourselves, and things have to change before we've gone to far to turn around.

True to the end
